

Tibra Awards highlight the success of Libyan young women, recognize their excellence, and help them grow as contributors and future leaders of our community. The Awards Program enables the community to support our young bright stars and take pride in their success.

The Tibra Awards program is funded by donations from members and friends of the Libyan community.

Objectives of Tibra Awards

1. Highlight the achievements of Libyan young women and acknowledge their excellence
2. Inspire Libyan young women to reach for higher standards, raise their ambitions, and help them pursue their hopes and dreams
3. Invest community support to retain leading young women as active contributors
4. Help young achievers grow into reliable leaders
5. Establish an annual celebration of community pride in Libyan women

Awards for 2002

Tibra Scholarship for exemplary Libyan young women. $1000 to be used in furthering education. Payment will be applied toward tuition and fees at the recipient's university, or toward other educational resources.

Fijra Scholarship for exemplary Libyan young women. $500 to be used in furthering education. Payment will be applied toward tuition and fees at the recipient's university, or toward other educational resources.

Tibra Achievement Award. An honorary certificate to recognize young achievers.

Deadlines

1. February 1, 2002: Nomination deadline
2. May 1, 2002: Announcement of the final results

Eligibility

Nominees must meet all of the following criteria:

1. Women of Libyan descent
2. In their final year of high school or equivalent
3. A minimum cumulative GPA of 3.0/4.0, 75% or equivalent
4. Have demonstrated excellence in one or more of the following areas:
  - a) Academics
  - b) Leadership and community service
  - c) Arts, literature or athletics

Requirements:

1. A completed nomination form.
2. A completed parent/guardian approval.
3. Nomination letter. The nomination letter is very important in providing the judges with a meaningful summary of the nominee's credentials. The nominator can be a family member, friend, teacher or any person who knows the nominee and believes she qualifies for the Tibra Awards. The nomination letter should help the judges appreciate the value of the nominee's credentials.
4. A personal statement by the nominee, which might be ultimately published on the Tibra web site.
5. Two verifiable references. Letters written by a teacher, coach, supervisor, etc., but not family members.
6. Supporting documents. Copies of the documents listed below must be submitted with the nomination form.
  - a) Current academic transcript
  - b) Certificate of scores on SAT/ACT or similar standardized tests
  - c) Letters or certificates of recognition, honors and awards
  - d) Documentation of other nominee credentials.
7. A resumé of the nominee (optional)
8. A photo of the nominee that might be published (optional)

It is the responsibility of the nominee and nominator to put the nomination package together and submit it to Tibra Foundation before the deadline.

A nomination package is not considered complete if any of the above requirements is missing. Only complete packages of eligible nominees will be processed.

Tibra Judges:

1. University educators from the Libyan community
2. Judges donate their time and expertise to the Tibra Awards program
3. Five judges are appointed to participate in the selection process
4. Qualified candidates may volunteer by contacting Tibra Foundation
